

Biophysics in Medical Academies – state of art (1988) – Raport o stanie biofizyki w Akademiach Medycznych (1988)

Sławomir Bautenbach, Feliks Jaroszyk, Jerzy Jateczak, Marian Kucharski, Stanisław Mięgisz, Andrzej Pilawski, Józef Terlecki

In the article one may find information concerning the actual state of the Departments of Biophysics, organized units functioning under Medical Academies. We have presented the issue on the number of employees in the department and fields in which they have graduated as well as the scientific developments of academic staff. In the scope of didactic activity the goal of teaching biophysics and the number of hours assigned to teach the subject at Medical Academies has been clearly specified. We have presented here the extend to which they are overburdened by didactic training, how didactic workshops and scripts. The article also presents the fields of scientific studies being performed in particular Departments of Biophysics and the factors determining the subject – matter of these studies. It gives the outlay concerning the researches, the scientific workshops equipment and accessibility to specialist text – books and journals. In the conclusion to the article we proposed certain activities aiming in diverting the limiting tendencies of the position and role of Biophysics at Medical Academies in Poland.