

The pyroelectric effect in studies of dry BAT collagen denaturation

Leszek Kubisz, Feliks Jaroszyk

The measurements of temperature dependence of the total pyroelectric coefficient were done to study the thermal denaturation process of dry BAT collagen. On this basis, three regions of denaturation were distinguished, what is due to the presence of different crystallinity regions in tendons.