

Biophysics in technology and medicine

Danuta Frąckowiak, Jacek Goc, Aneta Waszkowiak

In this review following topics are shortly characterized: 1. conversion of light energy into the electric energy using the system containing elements of photosynthetic organisms, 2. production of hydrogen-ecological fuel, produced by some bacteria mutants, 3. photodynamic cancer therapy, predominantly the use of dye in oncology.