

Current Topics in Biophysics Vol 25(2), 2001

EPR spectra of phthalocyanines in dimethyl sulfoxide

Aneta Waszkowiak, Henryk Manikowski

Using EPR for six phthalocyanines dissolved in dimethyl sulfoxide free radical formation was measured. Free radical formation as a result of illumination of phthalocyanines is important for photodynamic therapy of cancer.