

Zagadnienia Biofizyki Współczesnej tom 8, 1983, 163-180

Non-enzymatic protein modifications in vivo

Grzegorz Bartosz

The phenomenon of protein glycosylation is reviewed, special attention being paid to the mechanism and kinetics of the reaction between hemoglobin and glucose. Possible significance of glycosylation in the pathology of diabetes and as one of molecular mechanisms underlying aging is discussed.