

Electric field influence on optical properties of biological macromolecules

Danuta Frąckowiak

The influence of electric field on absorption and fluorescence spectra of biological pigments and pigmented complexes in natural and model systems is reviewed. The photovoltaic effect is also mentioned.